

Info Sheet | May 2024

Young, talented, and always keen to experiment, the eleven members of Salaputia Brass choose their exciting programmes very carefully. Lightning clean intonations, rhythmic perfection and a meticulously balanced sound are what one can expect to hear.

The brass ensemble "Salaputia Brass" impresses at its performance in Dachau Castle with sophisticated arrangements and polished sounds. (...) The audience in Dachau Castle was thrilled, but also by the encore, the quiet piece "La Nuit" by Jean Philippe Rameau in a brilliant arrangement.

Süddeutsche Zeitung | Adolf Karl Gottwald | March 24th, 2024

...played with stupendous virtuosity on a high technical level and also very expressively.

Pizzicato | CD Roots | Remy Franck | November 30, 2020

Their programmes, which also include commissions, offer an entertaining listening experience with the highest musical standards. Salaputia Brass performs its wittily moderated programmes at the Mozartfest Würzburg, the Heidelberger Frühling, the Philharmonies in Cologne, Essen and Hamburg, as well as the Schleswig-Holstein Musik Festival and the Rheingau Musik Festival.

Following the CDs "Sounds of Evolution" and "Signals from Heaven" (with Jeroen Berwaerts - trumpet and jazz vocals), "Roots" was released with works by English composers from Holborne to John Lennon and a James Bond medley, "Hungarian Pictures" and "Chansons sans paroles" with works from the Renaissance to Zaz and well-known chansons such as La vie en rose and Les Champs-Élysées.